ERNEST GAMBLE DELIGHTS SCOUTS AT CAMP BUCCOO

Gives Solos and Repeats His Experiences of Concert
Tours

75 ARE NOW ENROLLED

Two Presented With Pick and Shovel for Work in Camp
Improvement

Ernest Gamble, Langhorne, a member of Bristol Rotary Club, delighted campers at Buccoo, Sunday, as chapel soloist. Mr. Gamble sang, "Glory, Glory Halleluia" with the congregation singing the chorus. In addition to the pleasure of hearing Mr. Gamble sing, the audience delighted hearing him tell of experiences while on concert tours in the United States and Europe.

Eagle Scout Edward Baumeister, South Langhorne, gave the lesson; Eagle Scout Robert Wright, Bristol, led in the singing of the hymns; Life Scout Fred Clymer, Doylestown, gave the prayer; and Eagle Scout George Herman read the Scripture. Many visitors attended the services which were held in Good Times Hall owing to the rain.

With 75 campers at Buccoo in the Cub, Scout, Indian Village and Waterfront Camps, the Boy Scout Reservation is a bee-hive of activity. The daily program includes: 6:45, reveille and colors; 7:15, breakfast; 8:00, advancement in Scoutcraft and Cubcraft; 10:15, Red Cross Life Saving Instruction; 10:45, beginners' swimming instruction; 11:00, swim; 12:15, housing inspection; 12:45, dinner; 1:30, crafts lodge; 3:00, afternoon competitions; 4:15, swim; 5:30, colors and dress parade; 6:00, supper; 7:00, fun period; 8:15, activities of campfire and ceremonies; 9:15, star study; 9:30, taps. On Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings a special class in bird study is conducted at 5:30.

On Monday evening Messrs. William Burgess, Martin Fluck, M. R. Reiter, C. S. Lenderman and William Schofield, Morrisville, representing Morrisville Rotary Club, enjoyed supper at camp. Introduced by County Boy Scout Commissioner William Burgess, who is also president of the Morrisville Rotary Club, Martin Fluck, chairman of the Boys' Work Committee, honored the 1932 Morrisville Boy Scouts: John Gould, Calvin Lenderman, Thomas Purcell, and Robert Steel by a presentation of the annual medals for excellence in Scoutcraft in their troops.

For unusual work during the Camp Improvement period, Scoutmaster Paul Nichols, of Morrisville No. 2, and Harold Washburn, of Morrisville No. 3, were honored by being taken into membership in the Camp Improvement Corporation of Pick and Shovel. "Uncle Nick" was given the shovel, and "Wash" was presented with a pick. Both men have done exceptionally helpful work in the building of one section of the Waterfront Camp unit.

In the camp competitions during the week, Edward Conroy and Richard Klein, Sellersville, had the highest scores. During the Wednesday tournament John Gould, Morrisville, came through strong and won most of the events. Friday proved to be one of the most interesting activities days, when the Scouts conducted a "Fun-"

WALKER'S "DAY IN COURT"
Albany, N. Y., Aug. 11.—The curtain lifts today at the State Capitol on the final phase of a great American civic drama—the public hearing granted to Mayor James J. Walker of New York by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt on charges growing out of the lengthy inquiry of the Hofstadter Legislative Committee.

Whether or not Mayor Walker, idol of Tammany Hall, will be removed from office is the vital decision which Governor Roosevelt, candidate for the presidency will make shortly after the popular, wise-cracking mayor is given his final "day in court."

The cast of characters in the drama staged here today includes three of the country's foremost personalities, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mayor James J. Walker, and Samuel Seabury, great civic crusader. Mayor Walker's arrival in Albany was spectacular to an extreme. Nearly 5,000 people thronged the station cheering the mayor as he was escorted to his hotel.

"I am here to meet any charge my political enemies care to make," Mayor Walker stated in an interview. "Certain charges have been made against me at ex-parte hearings. I want to hear the evidence as construed to the court and I think I should have the right to cross-examine. So far in all hearings, the right to cross-examine has been denied me. My reading of the law tells me I have the right to cross-examine. If the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby were to be found tomorrow they would get a trial and their accusers would have to face them and their counsel would certainly have the right to cross-examine. I am charged with many things but none quite so despicable as the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby."

TO NOTIFY HOOVER

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—In an elaborate setting of a White House garden party, President Hoover this afternoon will formally open his campaign for reelection and tonight at Constitutional Hall, the executive will receive official notification of the fact that he was renominated last June at Chicago, and it is for more than 500 of the more prominent Republicans assembled here for the notification ceremonies, that he and Mrs. Hoover will entertain this afternoon.

The beautiful south garden had taken on somewhat the aspect of a society bazaar for the occasion. Promptly at 1 o'clock the Marine Band, resplendent in their colorful uniforms will take over the bandstand. According to advance arrangements, Republican men and women will come first to the White House proper where Mr. and Mrs. Hoover will be waiting in the blue room to receive them. From there the guests will be ushered out to the grounds for luncheon. The executive will join them there, mingling with various crowds during the band concert.

BYE'S KIN GAIN WEALTH BY DEATH OF A SERVANT

Estate of $520,000 Will Benefit
Four Bucks Countians
and Two Others

WAS ONCE CONTESTED

NEWTOWN, Aug. 11.—Four residents of this borough are included in the six people who will benefit in an estate of $520,000 left by their cousin, Lorenzo Bye, who was a real estate operator in Atlantic City, N. J., for many years. The estate reverts to the six cousins of Bye as the result of the death Saturday of Bye's housekeeper, Martha H. Strasburg.

Bye died on the 30th of December, 1925, and in his will he named the housekeeper as a "faithful and loyal friend," and left 70% of the income of his estate, $320,000 in mortgages, and $200,000 real estate, to her. The six cousins of Bye who were named as beneficiaries upon the death of Mrs. Strasburg, are: Mrs. Elizabeth Hutchinson, wife of William Hutchinson, Newtown candy dealer; Josephine Voorhees, wife of Joseph Voorhees, tobacconist of this place; Richard Bye, of Bryn Mawr; George Bye, Newtown blacksmith; Allen Bye, an undertaker's assistant here, and Frank Bye, former Newtown plumber, but now of the Pennington School, Pennington, N. J.

Mrs. Strasburg died last week, and was buried in the Bye family plot, Saturday in accordance with the terms of her late employer's will. Mrs. Strasburg, who was 66 years of age, had no relatives. The will of the late Mr. Bye was fought after his death, but Mrs. Strasburg won the case. The will at the time of its filing, raised the question as to disposal of the other 30% of the estate. Chancery Court ruled it should be turned back to the body of the estate.

"Eddie" Sullivan, hurler for the A. O. H. team of the Lower Bucks County League, entered the baseball hall of fame last night at Hulmeville when he set down the first half champions without a hit or a run. The Hibernians scored two runs.

It marked the first time that the no-run, no-hit feat has been accomplished in the circuit, although this same feat has twice set down the oppositions with only one hit being made against him. In a game with Croydon a week ago, a lone hit was made by the Croydon shortstop, Heftman. Two weeks ago, Sullivan pitched a three-hit game against the Croydon team, while earlier in the season Bristol A. A. was held to a lone bingle.

In his last four starts, Sullivan has blanked the opposition twice and in the other two tilts only one run was scored in each fray, making a total of two runs in four frays and neither of the two runs proved to be earned tallies.

Last night's victory for the "Hibs" put them in the top-notch position in the league and marked the first time that Hulmeville has been off that top perch since the season opened.

Only four Hulmeville players reached first base in last night's tilt, which went five innings because of the storm. Two went to first on passes, one on an error and the other on a forced play.

The "Hiboes" scored their first tally in the first. Dougherty singled to left and went to second on a passed ball. Nappy whiffed, Dugan singled to center and Dougherty crossed the plate. Roe was out, Schoenfeld to Black. Lycab was thrown out by Kohler.

In Hulmeville's half, Rockhill was walked. Wislar struck out. Comly forced Rockhill, Thompson to Dougherty. Black drew a pass. Mende rolled out to Roe.

The Hibernians scored again in the second. Thompson singled to left and went to second on Phipps' error. Ennis was passed. Sullivan sacrificed the runners. McClaflerty singled to right, scoring Thompson. Dougherty fled out to center.

For Hulmeville, Afflerbach went out, Roe unassisted. Kohler fled to Ennis and Schoenfeld lifted to Dougherty.

Nappy grounded out to second to start the third. Dugan repeated the trick. Roe got free transportation to first. Lycab rolled out to Kohler.

In the Hulmeville third, Rockhill reached first on Thompson's error after Phipps had fanned. Wislar forced Rockhill, Thompson to Dougherty. Comly fled to McClaflerty. Black forced Wislar, Thompson to Dougherty.

Thompson opened the fourth with a single, and was followed by Ennis who also singled. Sullivan was hit with a pitched ball. McClaflerty was fanned. Thompson was caught at the plate trying to score. Afflerbach to Black to Comly to Afflerbach. Dougherty struck out.

In the first half champs' half, Mende struck out. Afflerbach was thrown out by Dougherty and Kohler went out, Dugan to Roe.

No trouble took place in the last frame. Nappy was thrown out by People desiring a jolly time are being advised to visit the Country Fair at Harriman M. E. Church, on the church grounds, Wilson avenue and Harrison street, tonight, Friday and Saturday evenings.

There will be two tables of bingo. Admission to the game is trifling and money's worth will be gained in fun and recreation.

TALK ABOUT ABSENT- MINDED PROFESSOR

By "The Stroller"

There is one duty which a woman of the sixth ward has to perform each morning which apparently has become quite mechanical through continuous habit.

It seems that at times with so much on her mind her thoughts rove far. And mornings are so hurrismore, especially when the daily task of taking her husband to the railroad station occurs. In fact she admits she is quite forgetful at times, but the other morning her absent-mindedness exceeded show of such on any other occasion.

Train time was nearing, and Dad must be off to work. She must hurry. The children had to be bundled into the machine. A foot on the starter and the car leaped forward.

"Where are you going, mother?" piped the voice of one of the tots.

"To take Daddy to the station," was the reply.

And then again from the off-spring: "But where's Daddy?"

Funeral of Sciarra Boy To Be Held Saturday

At St. Ann's R. C. Church will high mass be held Saturday at 10 a. m., for Donato Sciarra, the 17 year old lad who died late Tuesday night as the result of injuries sustained when struck by an automobile. Lerial will be made in St. Mark's Cemetery and friends may call Friday evening. Relatives and friends, as well as members of the Fathers' Association, Bristol high school, have been invited. The victim was a member of the Fathers' Association orchestra. The Martini Trio will play at the service.

The tragedy occurred late Tuesday afternoon as the Sciarra boy, riding his bicycle to his home at 17 Lincoln avenue, was hit by a car.

The motorist who stopped and offered assistance, but was informed by Sciarra that he was unhurt, was later found to be George Heaton, 423 Washington street. The Sciarra lad rode his wheel home, told his family of the accident, stating he was unhurt but had a head-ache, and then fell to the floor. He died late that evening at St. Francis Hospital, Trenton, N. J., from a cerebral hemorrhage.

Bensalem Man Too Ill To Appear at Trial Here

A second hearing in the case of Frank Secoda, Bensalem Township, who last week was arrested when a still was raided on his farm along the Newportville road, between Bristol Pike and Hulmeville road, was postponed for one week.

The hearing was scheduled for last night before Justice of Peace James Guy in the Municipal Building here. Secoda did not appear but sent his son who presented a note from a physician to the effect that Secoda was ill and not able to attend the hearing.

County Detective Anthony Russo agreed to the postponement after presenting the result of the analysis. The analysis showed the output of the still to have tested:

Sample No. 1, 89.84; Sample No. 2, 89.98; and Sample No. 3, 86.66. The mash tested 3.23.

Justice Guy ordered the case continued until next Wednesday.

To Demonstrate New Wall Finish to Public

O'Donnell Brothers, local coal and building material dealers and distributors of the new Duralith wall finish will hold an exhibition and demonstration of this product at 413 Mill street on Friday and Saturday of this week.

"Duralith, the newest note in interior decoration," says Joseph O'Donnell, one of the brothers of the firm in speaking of the material yesterday. "Modernizes your walls with the stroke of a brush and is easier to apply than paint, with no more expense."

"Duralith opens a new field of beautiful wall treatments for the home, the office, the store or any building interior."

"You will be amazed at the beauty and variety of texture when you see it applied to a wall at the demonstration. The easy manner in which one can apply Duralith and color it will surprise you," said Mr. O'Donnell.

LAWRENCE AND GREEN MAKE GOOD SHOWING

Two Bristol Boys Are Upholding the Name of Bristol

DEFEAT TENNIS RIVALS

Two Bristol boys, Herbert Lawrence and Nelson Green, are keeping the name of Bristol well up among the contestants in the tennis games which are being staged on the Cadwalader Park courts, Trenton, these days.

Tonight Lawrence and Green meet their keenest opponents when Lawrence plays the present title holder and Green will battle the former title holder. Should both Bristol boys win it will throw them competing against each other in the next round.

Leon (Red) Levy, last year's runner-up in the Trenton senior singles tennis competition, was blasted out of the current tournament in a sensational fourth-round upset last night, but other favorites, including Champion Abbie Rednor and Fritz Kuser, former title-holder, continued in the men's championship chase.

Herbert Lawrence, of Bristol, put out the rangy Levy after a strenuous three-set duel, winning by 6-3, 6-3, 6-3 scores. The Bristol boy called on his powerful service and masterful net game to subdue the young Hilltop ace after a thrilling battle that drew the major interest of a crowd of 300 persons.

Both Rednor and Kuser were extended in gaining the quarter-final bracket, the former being carried to 8-6, 7-5 by Earl Ballard, Y. M. C. A. player, and the latter being forced to 7-5, 6-4 scores by Frank Blank, of Langhorne, champion of Bucks County.

Nelson Green, Penn State star and doubles teammate of Lawrence, continued his fine work to eliminate Charles Nagel, a Langhorne netman, 6-4, 6-4, while Norman Swayne, the Newtown schoolmaster, won by the same score over Hobart Suppers, Y. M. C. A. luminary. Both of these matches were productive of long, bitterly fought duels before a decision was reached.

The most impressive winner of the fourth-round contests was Leon Rednor, older brother of the defending champion, who vanquished Joe Baker, George School's No. 1 player, 6-1, 6-1. Bob Boyd encountered early trouble against Stephen (Lefty) Kramer, 1931 junior finalist, but won by 7-5, 6-2. Harlan Whitehead, Princeton undergraduate, downed Joe Waldron, recent winner of the junior title, 6-3, 6-3.

The Lawrence-Levy match was remarkable in the fact that the winner carried his service 13 out of 14 times, losing only the fourth game of the second set, while Levy's delivery prevailed 11 in 13 attempts.

Lawrence's overhead smashes picked up many critical points at the net and enabled him to gain a decisive edge over Levy.

Today's quarter-final matches, starting at 6 o'clock, bring together Abbie Rednor and Swayne, and Whitehead and Boyd in the upper bracket, while the lower bracket bills Kuser and Green, and Leo Rednor and Lawrence.

Fourth round results:

Abbie Rednor beat Earl Ballard, 8-6, 7-5.

Norman Swayne beat Hobart Suppers, 6-4, 6-4.

Harlan Whitehead beat Joe Waldron, 6-3, 6-3.

Bob Boyd beat Steve Kramer, 7-5, 6-2.

Fred Kuser beat Frank Blank, 7-5, 6-4.

Nelson Green beat Charles Nagel, 6-4, 6-4.

Leon Rednor beat Joe Baker, 6-1, 6-1.

Herbert Lawrence beat Leo Levy, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

VOTERS AND ECONOMY

As an alert and vocal member of the National Economy League former president Calvin Coolidge has sent out a call for volunteers in the cause of economy in government. He summons wage earners and business men to "combine on a non-partisan basis for their mutual protection" and beseeches them to become "organized, alert, vocal and willing volunteers of their time and efforts" even as they were in war time.

It is futile and ineffective to raise a cry against excessive government costs without giving time to the study of economy methods; it is useless to understand the reasons for waste and yet fail to become vocal; the necessity of organization has been shown by the success of the organized forces which are largely responsible for the bloated governmental budgets.

Had the taxpayers been as alert and organized, as well as vocal, during the years of pyramiding tax burdens as the groups that wanted public funds for one purpose or another, lawmakers and administrators would have decided in favor of the taxpayers at least some of the time. But the strongest pressure was ever from the spenders.

First the public must be taught the difference between luxuries the taxpayers cannot afford and the necessities for which they must find money. And that should not be so hard when people are foregoing many things they want but cannot afford. Let it be understood from the start that no Federal, state, county or municipal officeholder will lean toward public extravagance when the great body of voters is leaning toward economy and missing nothing.

BETTER DETOURS

As long as the ubiquitous highway detour seemed to cost the motorist nothing more tangible than time that he usually could afford, and loss of temper, which is an incident of his daily driving anyhow, inherently good-natured Americans made a joke of it. But now there should be a difference in the public reaction to the rotten roads built by that Frenchman, De Tour.

Engineers of the Pennsylvania Highway Department have computed the cost of detouring in gasoline consumption, wear and tear on tires, depreciation on trucks and automobiles and loss of time and find that in some cases where long detours have been maintained over long periods of time it equals the cost of the highway improvement that occasioned the detour.

Detouring isn't what it used to be. Most states now improve the detours before closing the main highway for repairs or new construction and ways and means of eliminating detours have been evolved. These things cost money but, if the high cost of detouring has not been exaggerated, the benefits that accrue therefrom are well worth it.

You can also judge a man by the dates he keeps.

Do they call it the Irish Free State because its marriage rate is the lowest in the world?

Don't cuss the speed law. It's nice to have at least one law that all classes can agree to break.

'MURDER of the NIGHT CLUB LADY'

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY

BY ANTHONY ABBOT

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY COVICI-FRIEDE INC., DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Lola Carewe, "The Night Club Lady", is mysteriously murdered in her penthouse apartment at three o'clock New Year's morning. An hour later, the body of Lola's guest, Christine Quires, is found in Lola's room. Christine had been killed first and her body hidden. Dr. Hugh Baldwin attributes both deaths due to heart failure. Guy Everett, Christine's New Year's Eve escort, claims he brought her home at 12:15 and then went riding alone, on the Motor Parkway. Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother, denies seeing Christine return. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt discounts District Attorney Dougherty's theory that Lola was killed by a jewel thief ring she headed and that Christine met the same fate for knowing too much. Vincent Rowland, Lola's lawyer, discloses that Everett loved Lola and was jealous of Dr. Baldwin. The Commissioner telephones a picture of a young man, named Basil, found on Lola's dresser, to the Paris Prefect of Police requesting that he identify it and investigate Lola's past. The police are on the trail of Christine's brother, Edgar, who left his Rochester home for New York after receiving a telegram New Year's Eve. Christine was to have inherited wealth shortly. Dr. Multooler, the medical examiner, contradicts Dr. Baldwin's statement that heart failure caused the deaths.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

"THERE was no indication of a history of old heart trouble?"

In either girl?"

"None whatever. The girls' hearts were sound as a dollar."

"But Doctor Baldwin told us Lola had suffered from a weak heart."

"Something wrong there, Mr. Colt. I know damn well that her heart could not have suddenly gone haywire and caused the condition I found. The heart muscle constrictions in both girls were simply unbelievable."

"Have you no theory at all as to what caused the constriction of the heart muscles?" asked Colt.

"I admit it would look like some foreign cause—poison—something external that had just got into the system either the minute before you found her, or sometime afterward," declared the Assistant Medical Examiner stoutly. "But I went all over them again—even shaved their heads—there was no trace of poison, and furthermore there was no skin puncture anywhere except, on Lola Carewe's arm, the tiny hole made by Doctor Baldwin's hypodermic needle. And that's been analyzed down here. It was absolutely innocent—the solution of adrenalin was absolutely harmless!"

Colt cleared his throat unhappily.

"Now, Doctor Multooler," he said, "please don't take what I am going to say as a criticism. And I am sorry to ask you to work any more, after the pace you've been going. But this much I know—unless I am making the biggest blunder of my life, there has to be a puncture somewhere on the body of Christine Quires. Will you look again?"

"Mr. Commissioner!"

The voice of Doctor J. L. Multooler rang with injury and reproach.

"You know you can count on me!" he cried earnestly. "Of course I'll look again. Maybe I'll find something this time. And I'm all the more willing, Mr. Colt, because—even though I have failed to find anything—I know this is murder!"

"What makes you say that?"

"That belt you found!"

"Belt?"

"Strap, I mean—the strap with the buckle on it!"

"What did they find?" urged Colt, his voice charged with eagerness.

"Mr. Colt, they found on the leather of that strap a number of microscopic pieces of human skin."

"Mr. Colt," he declared, "I have come here, hounded by my conscience, to make a confession."

There is no doubt that the strap was around the throat of Christine Quires!"

So—this explained the diabolical markings on the dead girl's throat! But what did that make clear?

"Could she have been choked to death?" asked Thatcher Colt.

"Absolutely not!" declared Doctor Multooler, emphatically.

"You will try again?" begged Colt.

"At once, Mr. Colt."

"Thank you," said Thatcher Colt crisply.

"Happy New Year," caroled the autopsist as he hung up.

There was a baffled glint in the eyes of Thatcher Colt as he turned from the telephone and repeated what he had heard to District Attorney Dougherty.

"How was the thing done?" he demanded aloud, as he sat back and filled his pipe. "There are no really new methods in crime. But I can't remember a single case that resembles this one!"

Then, with a philosophical sigh, he added:

"However, we have only started."

Further comment was held up by entrance of the black Arthur pushing a breakfast table on wheels. The sight and smell of that meal suddenly made me realize that we had been working all night and that I, for one, was ravenous.

In silence we began to eat. There was creamed chicken on toast, hot rolls and marmalade, and the exquisite coffee which Colt's butler grinds and boils with such loving artistry; the smell of that coffee is like an incense in my memory. After his third cup of that priceless beverage, and a voracious attack on the chicken, Dougherty leaned back, beaming brightly. When at last he spoke, his conversation had nothing to do with the crime. Instead, Dougherty began to talk of his shooting lodge in the Adirondacks of the ways of wild game in fog and sunshine, and the joys of living the hermit's life, which Dougherty, who had been married three times and had eleven children, could hymn with gusto. Colt responded in kind, enthusing over the fishing near the shores of Cape Cod, where he has his summer home. In this vein the talk rolled on, until Arthur interrupted us with an announcement:

"There is a gentleman downstairs and he would like to see Mr. Colt right away, and he says it's about a murder case of a girl named Miss Christine, and he says he has something to confess. And he says his name is Guy Everett."

"For a full moment, none of us spoke. Then Colt reached for his pipe and murmured:

"You may send up Mr. Guy Everett immediately."

The appearance of the actor was tragic. Guy Everett could not have dressed the part of mental anguish more appropriately. He was still in the evening clothes which he had worn when he squired Christine Quires to their New Year party. But now his collar was askew and his white tie was missing. His face was lined and haggard and his eyes were gleaming restlessly. A dark slouch hat was crunched in his right hand as he strode theatrically across the library and stood before the Police Commissioner in a posture of resolute despair.

"Mr. Colt," he declared, "I have come here, hounded by my conscience, to make a confession."

"Of murder?" asked Colt quietly.

"God, no! But of having lied. I told you a lie last night and my conscience will not let me rest!"

"Get it off your soul, man," encouraged Dougherty, shoving forward a chair. "Sit down and tell it straight!"

Abruptly Guy Everett sat down on the edge of the chair.

"I don't know how much you guessed," he blurted, fear and sincerity struggling through an habitual instinct to dramatize every truth he drew, "but what I am telling you is the truth, so help me God. It is true that I didn't go on the Motor Parkway last night—I spent all those hours in a speak-easy trying to drink myself into a calmer state."

"What speak-easy?" asked Colt. A blankness came into the actor's eyes and then as quickly disappeared.

"It was the North Star, on West Fifty-eighth Street, near Sixth Avenue."

I made a note of this, as Thatcher Colt motioned for Everett to proceed.

total of 73 colored men and women voters. Bristol, the fourth ward, contained 46 names of colored men and women who visit the polls.

Bensalem, with 25, Buckingham, with 18, and Doylestown with 18, led the statistics for the largest number of colored residents voting in Bucks county.

Springfield, in the upper end of the county, has 7 men and 12 women who make up one-half of the number of Prohibitionists voting in the county. The other nineteen are divided among the remaining 102 voting districts.

More than half of those who adhere to the platform of the Socialist party cast their vote either in Quakertown, Rockhill, Sellersville or Tinticum districts, according to statistics.

Quakertown, the hub of the North Penn, has an even dozen followers of the Marxian doctrine, while a sister town, Sellersville swells the number to 11, all of which are male voters. Rockhill contains eight Socialists, and Tinticum, the creek township, has just half as many.

LEADERS OF FASHION ON RIVIERA WEARING TROUSERS OF ORANGE

By Alice Langelier
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

PARIS.—Women are not the only bright pebbles on the beaches this summer. For the men, apparently tired of allowing the fairer sex to monopolize all the gay colors of the rainbow, have decided that they too can wear brilliantly-splashed beach pyjamas and other seaside wear.

Orange trousers and royal-blue trousers are to be seen on many a chic blade along the Riviera and the Basque coast. Green flirts with the new prune-purple and red runs riot with a raspberry-pink which is particularly flattering to bronze heroes who have been basking in the sun.

Then there are the gayest of ties with big spots and stripes of every shade and color. Brightly-colored shirts with collars to match have been seen with morning coats, trousers and waistcoats at the smart races. And for every black silk "topper" there were at least three pale grey ones, so pale some of them, that they might easily be named white.

Seelio is starting something novel for summer nights at the seaside, an ensemble of black tunic with pill-over having wide satin collar and lapels to give it the evening touch. A wide ribbing marks the waistline and beneath is a soft shirt in white crepe de chine with collar attached. Certainly no mere man could ever complain of dressing up for evening in this costume.

One of these sweater models has the lapels cut short to allow for a square display of vest and it is likely this square space will be the newest winter mode of the "smoking" in France.

TRICKS of MAGIC EXPLAINED by Will L. Lindhorst

HOW TO FIND A SELECTED CARD IN A PACK

Separate the red cards of a pack from the black and stack the cards of each color in separate packs. Placing the red deck in your pocket, ask somebody to select a card from the black deck and exhibit it to the audience. While this is taking place casually slip the black cards in your pocket, substituting the red cards in their place. Keeping the audience ignorant of this change, have the selected black card placed in the red deck which you hold and the solution of the trick becomes simple. The difficulty lies in preventing those in the audience from seeing you exchange the packs.

Safety First Take that Clunk off the Road

WHICH ?

Your Unsafe Car
In The Junk--Yard
or a Victim
In The Graveyard

If you had to make the decision today you know what your answer would be.

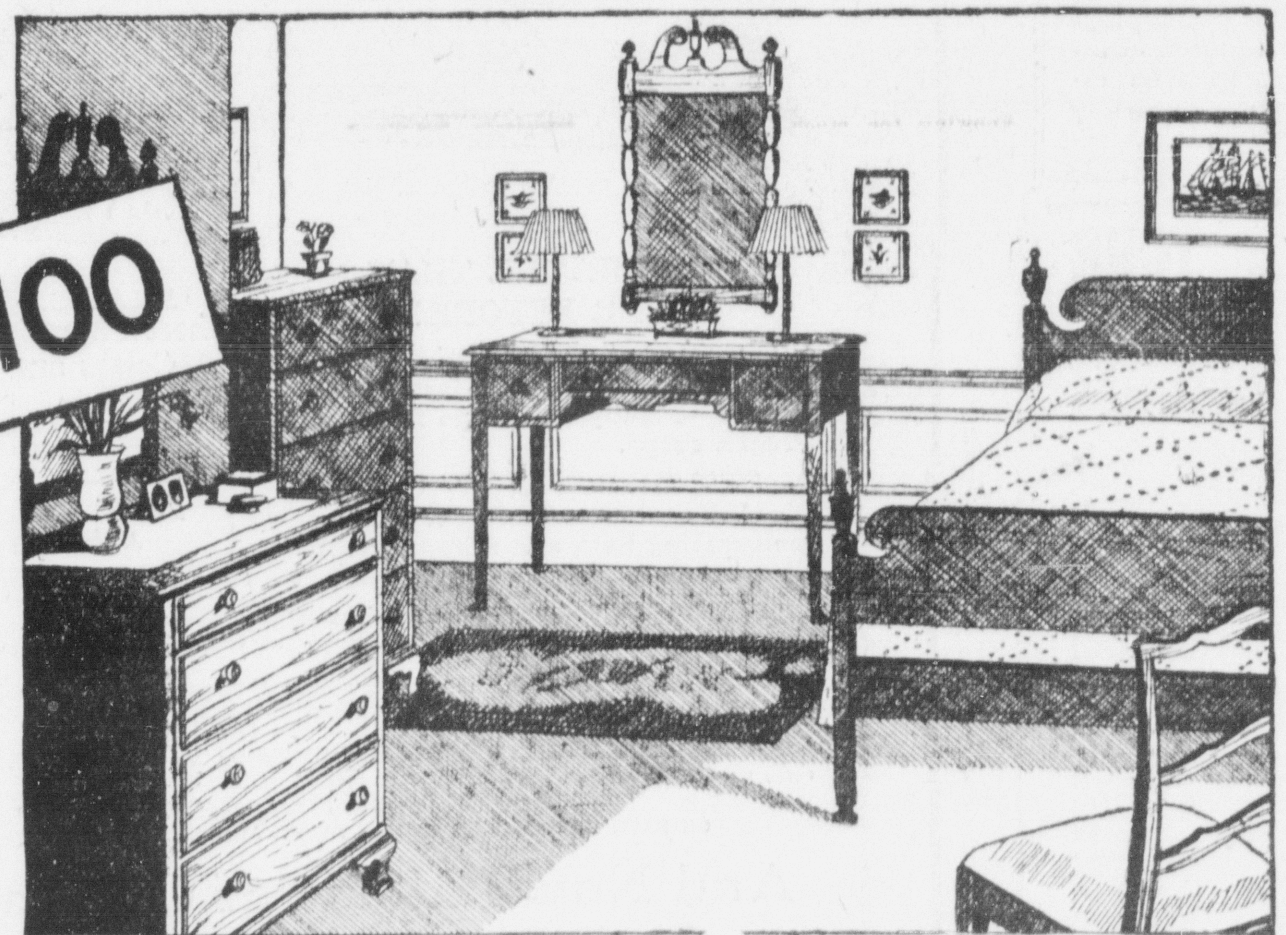

And yet that is the jeopardy with which every man drives an unsafe car... a car with insecure brakes; with tires on the verge of collapse; with unreliable steering gear; with bad lights.

And where is the percentage? Take a life and it will cloud all your future with horror and regret. Heavy damage suits will far exceed the cost of a new car or complete repairs. Prison or your own life may pay the penalty.

What a prospect against the saving of a few paltry dollars.

Bristol auto dealers will be pleased to sell you a new car or an approved second-hand one. Read carefully their advertisements in the Courier.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Remotest a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

GET RID OF INDIGESTION IN A FEW MINUTES, OR

Get Your Money Back

"Bi-carb" and milk of magnesia only make your indigestion worse in most cases, for they weaken the digestive acid in your stomach, so it cannot digest your food properly. Pepto-Bismol does not upset your stomach. It relieves indigestion gently in a few minutes by stopping the souring of food in your stomach and the decay of food in your bowels. The medicines in Pepto-Bismol which stop souring and decay, are four of the finest medicines known to physicians. Read then on the bottle. Also, Pepto-Bismol is not a patent medicine. It is a prescription by The Norwich Pharmaceutical Company, whose Uguentine and other fine medicines have held the respect of physicians, surgeons, hospitals, nurses and druggists for nearly 50 years. If Pepto-Bismol does not get rid of your indigestion, distress after eating, heartburn and sour, acid stomach, in a few minutes get your money back from your druggist. Delicious Pepto-Bismol is harmless. Price 50c. But don't be absentminded and merely ask your druggist for "something for indigestion". Ask him for Pepto-Bismol by name. Look for the name Pepto-Bismol on the bottle. Refuse the unfair offer of "something just as good" which may hinder, instead of help your digestion. Ask for Pepto-Bismol by name and get what you ask for.

ST. ANN'S IX. CROWNED SECOND-HALF CHAMPS

BRISTOL TWILIGHT LEAGUE
Result of Last Night
ST. ANN'S, 9; THIRD WARD, 4

(By T. M. Juno)

St. Ann's were crowned the champions of the second half of the Bristol Twilight League last night when they trounced the Third Ward A. C., 9-4, on Sullivan's Field. The victory for the "Saints" brought the Twilight League to a close as the second half pennant is clinched.

The winners went right to work in the first inning and before "Milt" Jones could get out the side four runs had raced across the plate. Three more came in the second and then the fun began.

Dark clouds began to hover about and the Warders seeing that a storm was about to break began to stall in order to not complete the five innings before the rain. The St. Ann's team, seeing their rivals stall began to do the same and tried to get out. Two runs were given as a gift to the St. Ann's team in the fourth when the baserunners could have easily been retired.

However, the five innings were completed and made it a complete twilight contest, giving the winners the second half championship.

Jones, Flatch and McGinley shared the pitching burden for the losers. Ralph Narcisi was the winning hurler and was backed by able support from his mates.

"Mikie" Riola, third baseman for the losers, clouted a home run to left field in the third canto. Massilla and Whyno were the leaders in hitting with two hits each.

The St. Ann's nine and Edgely A. C. will clash in the play-off for the championship. The date will be announced later.

BOYS LOSE TO GIRLS

Jefferson A. C. made a trip to Emille last night, and was defeated by the Bloomer Girls, 3 to 2. The locals outdid the victors but did not come through in the pinches. Tonight on Leedom's field the "Mules" will play Newportville A. C.

NOTED DRIVERS TO RACE AT LANGHORNE

Gene Haustien, youthful dare-devil from Detroit, who drove to a spectacular victory to defeat a field of 27 star pilots at Readville Speedway, near Boston, is coming to Langhorne Saturday to try and repeat his win over a huge field of high-class pilots.

Joe Dawson, zone supervisor for the A. A. A. attended the Boston race and returned with the entry of Haustien, Bob Carey, fourth at Indianapolis, Joe Russo, Italian speed king, and Jimmy Patterson. These entries brought the total nominations to 54 with the closing date being three days away. Dawson said he is sure of the entries of Howdy Wilcox—second to Freddy Frame in the 500 mile classic, and at least 15 other noted pilots. Wilcox is third in the 1932 national championship point system, while Carey is a scant 30 points behind Frame. The rivalry between Frame, Wilcox and Carey is very pronounced.

"Wild Bill" Cummings, latest big-league pilot to enter the Langhorne Speedway meet scheduled for Saturday, August 13th, will have dangling before him all during the big race the generous offer of the owner of his car, Mike Boyle, wealthy sportsman from Chicago, to send him to Europe as an entrant in the French Grand Prix, the auto racing classic of the Continent. All "Wild Bill" has to do is to repeat his performance of last May 7th when he won the 100 mile event at Langhorne.

Al Gordon of Santa Monica, California, described by many racing enthusiasts as being the rough-riding of the speedways, has entered his "Lion Tamer" special in the Langhorne meet scheduled for Saturday.

Gordon won the sobriquet on the Pacific Coast where he cavorted around the sporty Ascot track, but kept adding to his fame as he participated in the Indianapolis 500 mile race and other big events. His greatest achievement of the year was winning the Rockingham Sweepstakes over the worst course in the country last June. The track is in Salem, New Hampshire, near Boston. Practically every noted racing pilot in the middle-west and eastern sections were his opponents. Seven cars crashed through the fence during the race and the deeply rutted track caused several of the stars to quit as Gordon drove to a spectacular victory.

Gordon registered his car with the A. A. A. and the "Lion Tamer" as a come-back after an argument in California with "Howdy" Wilcox and "Stubby" Stubblefield, both of whose cars bear a huge lion's head on their body. Since that time Gordon has beaten both his rivals more often than they have defeated him.

While Wilcox is yet to enter the Langhorne races, Joe Dawson, A. A. A. man and Dr. Paul Lowery of the Langhorne management are in Boston today to attend the opening of the Readville Speedway where the big-league drivers are racing this afternoon. Dawson expects to return tomorrow with signed entries from all who have not entered here as yet. Freddy Frame, Indianapolis 500 mile race winner is with the party, although he will not race again until Langhorne.

SEARCH FOR CONVICTS

Philadelphia, Aug. 11.—Police today are on the look-out for two escaped convicts who fled from the New Jersey State Reformatory at Rahway early today. The men are Paul Welsh, 21, Wildwood, and Horace Hanna. They were reported to have been seen on a truck headed for this city.

IN FEAR OF RACKETEERS

Philadelphia, Aug. 11.—"For God's sake please help us against these dry cleaning racketeers."
Francis because of threats against his life, Bernard Shopkin, president of the Dollar Cleaners and Dyers, Inc., today made this desperate appeal to Mayor J. Hampton Moore in a telegram which advised the latter that one man has already been slain and eight explosions have occurred in cleaning plants here because they refused to join a "protective association" operated by racketeers.

STATE NEWS

HARRISBURG, Aug. 11.—(INS)—Reopening and thorough probing of the whole question of rural electrification and its vexing extension line and unit complications is one of the first jobs to be tackled by the "Pinchot regime" when it comes into actual control of the Public Service Commission, International News Service learned today.

Utilities will be required to file an itemized list of extension line costs, and rates will be based on actual expenditures rather than on estimated costs, as at present. The established system of compelling the special extension consumer to take the service for a minimum of three years will also be looked into closely with a view of reducing the time limit.

Instances have come to the Commission's attention, it was learned, where utilities have "padded" their extension line costs and then charged rates on the marked up investment. It is planned to remedy this by the filing of the itemized expenditure list and the dispatching of competent men into the field to make a careful check-up of the quantity, quality and cost of materials utilized in the extensions.

Commission members who will lead the investigation contend that not only does the abuse of "padding" work an injustice on the particular consumer, but it allows the utility to utilize the marked up figures to rear a false structure of capitalization which in turn is used for rate-making purposes, thus extending the evil.

Also to be studied is the alleged utility practice of pyramiding capital investment charges through the "three year" minimum clause.

Commission members will argue, it is known, that at the end of the three-year period the special extension consumer has usually paid about 72 per cent of the original line construction costs; at the end of another three years he has more than paid for the total outlay; at the end of a third three-year period he is still paying the same rate, and, although he has paid for it several times over, the cost item is still carried as a capital investment charge and used as a basis for computation of rates.

The Pinchot Commissioners, numbering five when all appointments have been made, will tackle this rural electrification problem without delay, once they are seated. The extension principle will also be carried to utility services, such as water, gas, and telephone, where similar methods are said to be employed.

NOW that the Olympic track and field competition is over, winding up in spectacular fashion on Sunday after a week packed with all kinds of athletic fireworks, attention turns to the remaining sports on the Olympic program.

Chief among these are swimming, rowing and boxing. All three of these sports are on tap for this week, the closing week of the great international sports carnival at Los Angeles.

The swimming events have already gotten under way. Several of the sprint swims and the men's diving finals took place on Monday, while yesterday's feature events were the ladies' 200-meter breast-stroke finals, as well as some relay events and a number of trials.

A great galaxy of invading swimmers are here for the Olympic games. Hungary, Japan and Australia, in particular, have very strong contenders in a great number of the events.

An idea of how seriously the Japanese have been taking the swimming events can be seen by the fact that K. Abe, foreign relations secretary of Japan's swimming team, flew to Cincinnati to see the American swimming tryouts last month in order to gather some useful information. The swimmers from Nippon have a style all their own, with fast leg kick and an under-lunge stroke that fairly propels them out of the water.

Australia's leading aquatic representatives are "Bonnie" Mealing, backstroke ace, and Andrew "Boy" Charlton, who is favored to win in the 1500-meter men's free-style event. Australian critics predict that Charlton will win this event in world's record time. "Boy" is an Olympic veteran, with a win in the 1500 meters and a third in the 400 meters in 1924, and a pair of seconds in these events at Amsterdam.

France also boasts of unexpected strength in the swimming events this year, Cartmonet and Taris being dangerous contenders in the breaststroke and free-style events, respectively.

The Olympic boxing events started Tuesday afternoon at the Olympic Auditorium at Los Angeles. It is tempting in this connection to say something about resin "divers," since we have just been discussing the swimming events, but that would only be appropriate in speaking of professional boxing bouts.

Anyway, the U. S. boxers can't do any worse this time than they did in 1928, when they didn't win anything at all. With stars like Feary, Flynn and Salica on the team, Uncle Sam's fistie representatives may redeem themselves this week.
